On the occasion of World AIDS Day, an awareness rally was organized by Padmabhushan Vasantdada Patil Government Hospital, Sangli with the objective of spreading knowledge about HIV/AIDS prevention, early diagnosis, treatment availability, and reducing social stigma.

The Third Semester B.Sc. Nursing students of Madanbhou Patil College of Nursing, Kavalapur, Sangli actively took part in this meaningful public health initiative.

The rally commenced in the morning with a short inaugural address by the hospital authorities, highlighting the global theme of World AIDS Day and the urgent need to strengthen public awareness and community involvement. Our students, accompanied by faculty members, carried informative banners, posters, and placards displaying messages such as "Stop AIDS, Keep the Promise," "Educate, Prevent, Support," and "Awareness is the Best Prevention."

Throughout the rally, the students raised powerful slogans promoting safe practices, the importance of HIV testing, adherence to treatment, and compassionate attitudes toward individuals living with HIV/AIDS. They also interacted with community members, clarified common myths and misconceptions, and emphasized the importance of eliminating discrimination and encouraging voluntary health check-ups.

This participation provided students an opportunity to understand the real-life role of nurses in community mobilization, health education, and public health advocacy. It enhanced their communication skills, confidence, and sense of social responsibility. The hospital organizers and local community appreciated the dedication, discipline, and active involvement of our students.

Overall, the rally served as an important platform for creating public awareness and strengthening the fight against HIV/AIDS. It also enriched the learning experience of our nursing students by exposing them to practical, community-centered health activities.
